Will all requirements for the doctoral degree be completed by the end of the current semester (ABD)? Yes No

If no, please explain:

- Students may use a personal computer to write the examination.
- Students are responsible for arranging a computer; departmental computers may not be reserved for this purpose.
- Students must start with a clean disk, making no use of prepared files or stored material.
- Students are advised to save and print page by page to minimize the effects of machine malfunctioning. Equipment problems are the responsibility of the student.
- Students may write their examination at any place of their choosing. They may obtain the questions from the GSC between 8:00 and 9:00 A.M. The answers must be turned in by 4:30 P.M. Answers must be printed; disk form or emailed is not an acceptable form of submitting answers.
- The honor code extends to all of these procedural matters.
