

Tatum N. Tullis
8234 Timber Mist Ct. Dublin, OH 43017
614-205-9551
nictnt92@live.unc.edu

EDUCATION:

- M.A., History, Cum Laude, Fordham University May 2016
 - Thesis: “The Functionality of Fictionality: Matthew Paris and the Chronica Maiora”. Examines and analyzes the ways in which Matthew Paris included elements of fictionality in his Chronica Majora (composed 1240-1253).
 - Advisor: Dr. Alex Novikoff
- B.A. with Honors, Medieval and Renaissance Studies, Minor in Spanish Language, Cum Laude, The Ohio State University. May 2014
 - Honors Thesis (never officially submitted): Discusses the Anglo-Norman (specifically Plantagenet) conquest of Ireland, focusing on social and political ramifications, while also taking into account the use of religious institutions to establish control.
 - Advisor: Dr. Alison Beach

SCHOLARSHIPS:

- Provost Scholarship: The Ohio State University 2010-2014

CONFERENCES AND PRESENTATIONS:

- Saint Louis University Conference on Manuscript Studies October 2016
 - Paper entitled “The Political Importance of Noble Genealogies: The Boteler Family and NYPL Spencer 193”
- Fordham University Intellectual History Conference May 2015
 - Paper entitled “A Universal Conception of History: Elements of Fictionality in Matthew Paris’ Chronica Maiora”
- Fordham University Manuscripts Conference December 2014
 - Presented a paper on a manuscript with which I worked at the New York Public Library

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIPS:

- Medieval Academy of America 2015-Present
- Haskins Society 2018

LANGUAGE EXPERIENCE:

- Spanish: Fluent in reading and speaking
- French: Highly proficient in reading and speaking
- Latin: Proficient translation competence
- Middle English: Proficient reading knowledge
- Old French: Basic reading knowledge

- German: Basic reading knowledge
- Greek: Basic reading knowledge
- Old English: Basic reading knowledge

STUDY ABROAD EXPERIENCE:

- “Discovering Medieval Ireland” June 2013
 - Traveled to Trim, Ireland for a month during the summer semester
 - Excavated a 12th century Dominican friary
 - Studied the history of the area and of medieval Ireland as a whole
- “Honors London Study Abroad” December 2010
 - A winter break trip offered only to freshmen in the Honors Program
 - Took a class on the social and cultural history of London
 - Explored the city and surrounding sites of historical importance
 - Took day trips to Stonehenge, Bath, and Cambridge

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE AND DEVELOPMENT:

- Old French Reading Group 2015-2016
 - Met bi-monthly to translate texts from Old French
- Fordham Graduate History Student Association 2014-2016
 - Attended meetings specifically concerning the History Department
 - Attended and helped plan social events
- Fordham Graduate Student Association 2014-2016
 - Attended meetings to discuss the state of the graduate school and the relationship between the graduate students and the administration
 - Attended and helped plan social events
- Attended and helped run the annual Haskins Society Conference 2017-Present
- Attended, helped organize, and spoke at UNC’s Medieval and 2018
Early Modern Seminar on medieval apocalyptic thought
- Reviewed and made connections between all papers given

CLASSES TAUGHT:

- History 108: Early Medieval History (TA)
- History 150: Europe to 1650 (TA)
- History 226: Roman History (TA)